Guiding Stars:

An Epiphany Activity at Home with Fellowship & Cookies

Wednesday – January 6th @ 6:30 p.m. via Zoom

Epiphany, January 6th, is the official end of the 12 days of Christmas. Many Christians celebrate this day by remembering the journey of the Magi.

The Magi found their way to Jesus by following a bright heavenly body, usually represented by a star. This activity allows each person to pick out a star that will guide him or her throughout the coming year. We will gather virtually to celebrate with sharing, reading scripture, talking, prayer, blessing, and eating seasonal goodies!

Contact Rachel Núñez, Director of Formation for Zoom meeting instructions and also to receive by delivery stars and seasonal goodies to be eaten during our time together.

You have been enriched ...

Pastor David

Recently, my random Bible ready landed me at the beginning of 1 Corinthians (vss. 4-9, to be precise). Go snag your nearest Bible and take a look at that passage. I'll wait.

(insert Jeopardy! theme music here)

So...what did you notice? Paul's gratitude, perhaps. "I give thanks to my God always for you." And just for the record, that wasn't necessarily an easy thing to do. The Corinthians were a rascally bunch...a diverse gathering of rich and poor, slave and free, who seemed to enjoy their time as congregation arguing about whose spiritual gifts were best and whose spiritual ancestors were most laudatory. And their table manners? Deplorable! Yet about this gaggle, Paul overflows in gratitude to God.

So why are such thanksgiving and joy are present? It's not because of the Corinthians themselves. No, not hardly. It's because of what God has been and continues to be doing among them. "In every way you have been enriched in him" and "you are not lacking in any spiritual gift" and he [God] will strengthen you to the end." Paul is head over heels about the congregation at Corinth because God is blessing them with an abundance that, despite their orneriness, will overflow into a powerful witness to the Gospel.

Hmm.

Over the past ten months, I'm betting that we have not always felt especially blessed... at least not like we normally count blessings. It's been a serious time of struggle against disease that seems even yet to be nowhere near abating, against a toxic political culture that sets us at odds with each in a way that would make the Corinthians blush, against prejudice and hatreds rooted deeply in our social experience. At least on the surface, 2020 doesn't rate very well. One star. Cannot recommend.

But sometimes there's more going on than meets the eye. This congregation's commitment to its neighbors (via DLM and Robinson and Family Promise and others) did not flag in 2020. It changed, and sometimes pretty dramatically. But it continued and even expanded. Sunday liturgy (and other worship services) went online, and the number of folks regularly joining us more than doubled. Discipleship opportunities followed suit, and some folks who you would not normally see in Room 202 on Sunday morning are now regulars in study and fellowship. Arts @ Holy Trinity likewise expanded its reach and continued to offer arts outreach to our community.

And yes, all the while, we are missing each other's company in a big way. No doubt about that. But, like Paul, we have reason to be filled with joy and thanksgiving at what God can accomplish among us, with us, through us...even in circumstances that try our patience and our souls.

People of Holy Trinity...members and friends alike..."I give thanks to my God always for you because of the grace of God that has been given you in Christ Jesus, for in every way you have been enriched in him." We are the recipients of the abundance of God. Don't forget that. Perhaps that knowledge can shape how we continue to faithfully ply our mission in this new year...no matter what the year has in store for us. After all, God is with us. And that is indeed reason for thanksgiving. †

Peace Poem

Submitted by Velma Pomrenke

Peace will come when people live in friendship, side by side

And cherish understanding more than hatred, greed and pride.

Peace will come when people see all people as the same,

*And no one has to live in fear,
in ignorance or shame.*

Peace will come when people who are lonely can reach out

For shelter, food or love and no one does without.

Peace will come when people learn to listen and to care

About the rights and dignity of people everywhere.

*Peace will come when love and trust
and kindness know rebirth*

*And on that day all people will rejoice
in peace on earth.*

~ Amanda Bradley

The Three Magi: Teachings Still Relevant Today

*As with gladness men of old
Did the guiding star behold,
As with joy they hailed its light,
Leading onward, beaming bright;
So, most gracious Lord, may we Evermore be led to Thee.*

*As with joyful steps they sped
To that lowly manger bed,
There to bend the knee before
Him whom heav'n and earth adore;
So may we, with willing feet,
Ever seek Thy mercy seat.*

*As they offered gifts most rare
At that manger rude and bare;
So may we with holy joy,
Pure and free from sin's alloy,
All our costliest treasures bring,
Christ, to Thee, our heav'nly King.*

*Holy Jesus, every day
Keep us in the narrow way;
And, when earthly things are past,
Bring our ransomed souls at last
Where they need no star to guide,
Where no clouds Thy glory hide.*

*In the heav'nly country bright
Need they no created light;
Thou its light, its joy, its crown,
Thou its sun which goes not down;
There forever may we sing alleluias
to our king.*

The Church has traditionally celebrated the coming of the wise men on January 6. But on Epiphany Sunday in 1860, William Dix was too ill to attend worship. At home in bed, he read the story of the wise men and tried to apply the lesson to his own heart. A new hymn resulted: As with gladness men of old. The hymn celebrates while it instructs, with an obvious pattern: The wise men followed, adored, gave. God calls us to do the same.

Dix was a brilliant linguist and poet, but he made his living as the manager of a maritime insurance company in Glasgow, Scotland. He knew the rigors of travel and the joy of bringing gifts from afar. In both his life and this hymn, Dix avoided focusing on the costliness of the magi's gifts. Instead, he emphasized the magi's discovery and worship of the Christ child. May we follow in his footsteps.

When they saw the star, they were overjoyed. On coming to the house, they saw the child with his mother Mary, and they bowed down and worshiped him. Then they opened their treasures and presented him with gifts of gold and of incense and of myrrh. – Matthew 2:10-11. †

Jesus: The God Who Knows Your Name
by Max Lucado

You believe Jesus is God. But do you also think of him as a real person? As Max Lucado reveals in this six-session Bible study, because Jesus became human, it is now possible for us to see God and hear his voice. If we want to know what matters to God, all we need to do is look in the Bible to see what matters to Jesus. If we want to know what God is doing in our world, we need only ponder the words of Jesus. By learning more about the person Jesus was and is, we come to understand more clearly the people we were created to be. †

The Bible features numerous encounters with angels who show up on an array of missions, from wielding a sword (Genesis 3:24), to rescuing a child (Genesis 22:11-12), to a mass choir singing, “Glory to God in the highest” (Luke 2:14).

Angels are not a major focus of Holy Scripture, nor are they ever mentioned in our Christian creeds. Yet they show up frequently and at pivotal moments in both Old and New Testaments. Church Reformer Martin Luther is quoted as saying, “If you picture the Bible to be a mighty tree and every word a little branch, I have shaken every one of these branches because I wanted to know what it was and what it meant.”

In Winter 2021, the Rev. Christa von Zychlin will present the four-part study “Journeys with angels” in which we will shake those biblical branches, watch for angels and listen for God’s calls to action.

On January 16th we will begin with part one of this study from Gather – January 2020. Looking up—New beginnings, awe-full, awesome angels. †

Celebrate

Christmas

Christmas was celebrated quite differently.

'Where are you?' was a question Pastor asked during the 10 p.m. Christmas Eve Candlelight Service. No one was in the Sanctuary for any of the services, albeit those involved with worship. Despite not being there in-person, everyone still gathered, but this year via electronic means ... Facebook LIVE, YouTube and through our website (thank goodness for technology!). The celebration and Good News continues for all of us. We pray your Christmas and New Year are filled with joy, peace, hope and love. †

Christmas Eve, 7 p.m. Service

This pre-recorded service included everything for children and families one would expect from an in-person experience ... music, singing, sharing of the Christmas story and a special book read by Pastor.

Christmas Eve, 10 p.m. Candlelight Service

It was like attending this live-streamed service in-person ... almost. It included hearing our favorite Christmas hymns sung by members of Trinity's choir and played by members of the bell choir along with scripture readings, a 'Where are you?' sermon and everyone singing Silent Night as the candles were lit.

Christmas Morning, 9:30 a.m. Service

This pre-recorded service included our favorite carols, the Holy Gospel, and the Lord's Supper that fed and nourished us.

To conclude the service was the singing of Angels We Have Heard on High by more than 1,000 vocalists and instrumentalists, a special music gift from the Association of Lutheran Church Musicians.

There was plenty of joyful cheer on December 18 when more than 100 Christmas kits were distributed to families by DLM Food & Resources. Families came to a special drive-thru event where kits that included clothing, pillows, personal care items and a food gift card along with special gifts for children were distributed. And for those families who could not come to the event, their Christmas kits were delivered.

Of course, no Christmas drive-thru event would be possible without a special appearance by Santa Claus! Thank you to our many donors, supporters, and volunteers who continue to help with this vital and important ministry! +
